Introduction

French Canadian Artist Yves Lambert Singer and Accordionist Folk Music Show at The Interceltic Festival of Morrazo

A Canadian artist comes to Moaña to perform an incredible folk music show! Since the start of his solo career in 2003, charismatic singer and accordionist Yves Lambert has never ceased to amaze. Shortly after he left the group La Bottine Souriante, he started a new journey with the musicians of the Bébert Orchestra this is when Yves Lambert was able to create his new identity. By combining festive and dancing music with the poetry of often unknown songwriters, he reinvented a new style in the music industry! Today, assisted by multi-instrumentalists Tommy Gauthier and Olivier Rondeau (two collaborators of the Bébert Orchestra), Lambert has a new signature music style and sound. The trio formula offers a personal and creative interpretation of the traditional Quebec repertoire. On stage, the show is intended to be a striking and touching musical experience. The Yves Lambert trio will captivate you!

Come to Moaña, Galicia, Spain and Enjoy a Celtic Music Festival Live Online

The Interceltic Festival of Morrazo is a folk music festival held in the fishing village of Moaña, located in the province of Pontevedra, Galicia, Spain, and part of the O Morrazo Peninsula. This festival more than 20 years old, was born thanks to the Gaitas School of Moaña "Semente Nova" who was in charge of organizing the first edition. It was celebrated under the name of I Festival Nocturno Celta do Morrazo (I Celtic Night Festival of Morrazo) on the 15th of August, 1985. The main objective of the Interceltic Festival of Morrazo is to promote traditional Spanish folklore and the new trends in this musical genre, internationally and nationally. In 2003 it was declared of cultural interest by the European Union and the Ministry of Culture of the Government of Spain. Apart from the local Galician folk music bands other artists from all over the world participate at this music festival from Scotland, Northumbria, Ireland, Canada, and Brittany.

We might even get a chance to speak with the artists after their shows so don't miss the opportunity! As well we might even squeeze some time to see the artisan stalls at this festival.

The Concello de Moaña is in charge of organizing this festival that is celebrated every year at the end of July or beginning of August, this year is the 38th edition and takes place on the 29th, 30th, and 31st of July.

Such a treat to see this great performance by a French-Canadian group. I enjoyed the excitement of the crowd, nice to be "at" a live concert. The music was great, and it was fun to hang out with Sean and Tiernan! Also, the scenery before the concert was great.

Interesting tour. I haven't watched a concert before. I guess it would have helped if I knew some French. Something different.

This is an excellent tour. Yves is a brilliant Quebecois musician. The interceltic festival in Moana appears fantastic. Thank you SO much Sean, Tiernan and Angie for bringing such a wonderful festival to the knowledge of Heygo voyagers.

This was my 1st tour with you, and I'm looking forward to more. Thank you for sharing this Celtic music festival, happening in Spain, with an amazing band from Quebec: truly international! It was a pleasure to attend this toe-tapping concert. The great sound and visuals were much appreciated (hope your gimbal arm gets a rest!!).
