Introduction

Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Milk Fritter of Galicia a Traditional Recipe in Galicia!

Galicia is well-known for its seafood recipes, but it is not all about seafood in this region of Spain! There are traditional dessert recipes that have been handed down from generation to generation, that is the case of the Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Mike Fitters.

Which Region of Spain Claims the Origin of Recipe for this Dessert?

This dessert recipe is also made in other parts of Spain but is typically in the northern part of Spain. Although various regions claim to be the origin of this dessert, it is uncertain, but many say it was first found in Palencia and from there spread to the other parts of the country.

A dessert dish that can be made quite quickly and easy to prepare that can be served all year round for after lunch or dinner, even on its own with coffee, tea, liqueurs, etc...

We hope after our live cooking demo you are able to make it at home for your family and friends!

Day by day itinerary

Ingredients for Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Milk Fritter of Galicia Recipe

The Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Milk Fritter of Galicia Recipe:

- 750 ml (3.17 cups) of milk
- 25 gr. (0.88 oz.) of butter
- Lemon zest
- 1 Cinnamon stick
- 2 Egg yolks
- 85 gr. (3 oz.) of sugar
- 40 gr. (1.41 oz.) of cornstarch
- 40 gr (1.41 oz.) of flour

The Batter for the Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Milk Fritter of Galicia Recipe:

- Flour
- 2 eggs

- Sunflower oil
- Grain sugar
- Cinnamon powder

Pre-Preparation and Description of Elaboration for Leche Frita Gallega, Fried Milk Fritter of Galicia Recipe:

- 1. We put the milk with the lemon zest and the cinnamon stick in a saucepan to infuse.
- 2. We blanch the yolks with the sugar until they are foamy. Add the flour and cornstarch.
- 3. When the milk is hot, we add it to the yolks with the flour and cornstarch. Mix well and return everything to the saucepan.
- 4. With the saucepan on the heat, we move with a whisk until it thickens, for about 5 minutes approximately.
- 5. Warm up a little and mix with the cold butter. It should be smooth and shiny.
- 6. We spread the mixture in a rectangular dish lined inside with plastic wrap, to help remove the fried milk from the mold later. We cover the top as well with plastic wrap.
- 7. Let it rest at room temperature for 1 hour and in the fridge for 2 more hours, covered with plastic wrap so that no crust forms on the surface.
- 8. When the cream is curdled, unmold and cut into squares or rectangles. We pass the cream through the flour and beaten egg. We then fry in abundant hot sunflower oil.
- 9. Drain the fried milk well on absorbent paper and batter in a mixture of sugar and cinnamon
- 10. We serve the fried milk on a tray or platter.

Sean and Angie are a delightful couple, and joining them in their kitchen for this was lovely. Angie did all the food preparation (thank you!) and sean talked us through the recipe, and between them we enjoyed seeing this yummy dessert from start to finish. The only bad bit was that we couldn't eat it with them!

Very knowledgeable and easy to relate with; we are both Canadian :)

Their presentation is very clear and Sean's voice grabs your attention

He takes the time to explain the steps in the cooking class and along with his wife; Angie- they make a great team- both professionally and personally (marriage) They welcomed all types of questions and comments and I love that he offers the opportunity to give you the how-to and share the information on the wines used/associated with the recipe; like the flavorings you can get for your espresso/coffee. I will certainly be back for more.
