Descripción

15TH C. HOSPITAL

The Parador, built in convent style, rises up on what was the former Hospital of St. John the Baptist, a historical 15th c. building. It is a comfortable, friendly space, with whitewashed arches adorned with vegetation, an invitation to peace and quiet in the setting of a beautiful town declared a Historical and Artistic Monument. The garden stands out with its luxuriant plants and flowers, its secluded swimming pool, spacious common rooms on the inside with white walls, and bedrooms which recall the religious function of its origins. The simple but delicious local cooking can be seen in representative dishes: `bacalao monacal` (cod, potatoes and spinach), `ajo blanco extremeño` (garlic dish), `migas extremeñas` (fried breadcrumbs), `pollo a lo padre Pedro`

(chicken dish), Iberian sausages, `caldereta de cordero` (lamb stew), chestnut pudding and `muégado de Guadalupe` (a fried sweet).
